MOTTO FOR THE YEAR.

"We spend our years as a tale that is told." Psa. 90:9.

REV. G. C. CARPENTER,
General Catalogue.

Andover, Mass., March 22, 1892.

F. J. Kiernan, Esq.,
Gore Hall, Cambridge:

Dear Sir:

Some time since, the widow of an old friend of mine, the late Prof. John Avery of Bowdoin College, wrote me, asking for suggestions as to the disposal of her husband's library, which was an exceptionally select one in Oriental lines, I think. "She spoke of the Petersburg lexicon, and other valuable books and periodicals," saying also, "Mr. Avery had a fine special library pertaining to Indian literature, and the languages." More particularly than this I know not, but thought it possible that there might be something in the collection that your library might lack. I asked her to send a list of the books to my son, G. R. Carpenter of the Inst. of Technology, but do not know whether she has done so. She could be addressed, if there were any necessity of communicating with her, at 82 Wall St., New Haven, Ct. -- Mrs. C. W. Avery.

I enclose Mt. Vernon annual record; Dr. Green is always anxious that you should have it; I think I have sent you previous issues.

Yours respectfully,

G. C. Carpenter.
